

WEALTH OF FLOWERS LAID ON CONFEDERATE GRAVES

Great Procession Moves to First Cemetery Opened for Bodies of Men Slain in Service of South.

MANY AGED VETERANS PRESENT

Colonel James Morris Morgan, of Washington, Midshipman in Confederate Navy, Makes Oration of Day.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Winchester, Va., June 6.—This was Confederate Memorial Day in Winchester—the biggest local holiday in the year—and about 10,000 people from every section of the Virginia Valley, nearly by portions of West Virginia, and Maryland and former Winchesterians now living in other States, gathered in one great family reunion to participate in the memorial ceremonies at the camps of Confederate veterans of the Shenandoah Valley, headed by General Turner Ashby Camp, United Confederate Veterans, of Winchester, followed by five companies, militiamen, bands of music, school children, daughters of the Confederacy, and the Confederate Memorial Association, marched in a monster parade through the principal streets this morning to Stonewall Cemetery, the first Confederate graveyard to be opened in the south. It was the forty-eighth annual observance, and not one of the 3,000 graves of soldiers from every Southern State were neglected. Flowers and Confederate flags were placed on each grave, and also on the great white marble monument to the "Unknown and Unrecorded Dead" in the center of the cemetery, and on monuments erected by States. The principal address was made by Colonel James Morris Morgan, of Washington, who was a midshipman in the Confederate navy, and who, after the war, was for years colonel of artillery and military instructor for the Khedive of Egypt. Others who made speeches were: Brigadier-General R. D. Johnston, of Alabama, who commanded a brigade in the army of General Jubal A. Early, and who had not been in Winchester since September 19, 1861, and Captain Marmaduke, of Washington, who is one of the few survivors of the Confederate officers who took part in the famous fight between the Merrimack and the Monitor in Hampton Roads. Confederate memorial services are always held here on June 6, which is the anniversary of the death of General Turner Ashby, who fell mortally wounded while leading a bayonet charge near Harrisonburg, Va., on June 6, 1862. Only a narrow lane divides Stonewall (Confederate) Cemetery from the National Cemetery, in which over 5,000 soldiers of the Union army are buried.

Camp Will Be Occupied.
In spite of the fact that numerous reports have been circulated to the effect that the Winchester army camp grounds would not be occupied, United States cavalry this summer on account of the Mexican situation, word came yesterday from Washington indicating that orders were about to be issued for two regiments to proceed from their home quarters and begin work on the new cavalry drills and war games which were inaugurated here last summer under the personal direction of members of the general cavalry board. While in Washington a few days ago Sheriff Luther Pannett, of Frederick County, had an interview with Representative James H. Hay of this district, who is chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs, and Mr. Hay stated that at least two regiments—possibly the Second Cavalry, now at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., and the Fifth Cavalry, now at Fort Myer, Va.—would be sent to Winchester this summer for two and a half months from the middle of July. Mr. Hay also stated that more troops probably would be ordered here if the Mexican situation cleared up. The decision to reopen the camp here was reached after a conference between Major-General Winterspohn, chief of staff, and Mr. Hay. It is expected that Major-General Wood, former chief of staff, will act as umpire during part of the encampment, as originally planned.

Many Indictments.
Twenty-three indictments were returned by the grand jury of the United States Court for the Western District of Virginia at Harrisonburg this week. Three indictments were for violations of the postal laws, and the remainder were for offenses against the Federal Statute and game laws. Eighteen of the persons indicted entered pleas of guilty, and in each instance they were fined and sent to jail. Four of the "moonshiners" indicted for violating the liquor laws were members of the same family. John Smith and James Burns, each with several aliases, now under arrest in Baltimore, were indicted for robbing the post-office at Eagle Rock, Botetourt County, from which more than $1,000 in money and stamps were carried off, some of which was found on the men. They have been held for trial.

Plans at Military Academy.
The graduating exercises of the Shenandoah Valley Military Academy, which was founded here over seventy-five years ago, and of which Dr. B. M. Roszel is principal, were held last night in the Handley Memorial Library Auditorium. The graduates were Peyton Marshall, Richard Felix Hatcher and John Stuart, all of Winchester; Eugene Hildreth, of Wheeling, W. Va.; DeCoursey Thigman, of Baltimore, Md.; Clarence List, of Washington, D. C.; and Henry Shepherd, of Shepherdstown, W. Va. The address to the graduates was made by Rev. James Gray McAllister, D. D., of the faculty of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, of Louisville, Ky. Class medals were presented to W. S. K. Buchanan, of Japan; William F. Jones, Jr., of Washington, D. C.; Robert T. Reed, of Wheeling, W. Va.; Richard T. Cox, of Lexington, Va.; and Richard Felix Hatcher, of Winchester. The presentations were made by Rev. J. H. Lacy, D. D., pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Winchester. The athletic "8" pins, made of gold, were presented to Henry Shepherd, Eugene Hildreth, DeC. Thigman and Peyton Marshall. Scholarships were presented by A. M. Baker, chairman of the board of trustees, on behalf of the board to Edward Wall Barr, Victor Arthur and Sedden Lacy, all of Winchester. The final ball was held later in the evening at the Winchester Inn, and it was attended by a large number of society people from Winchester and other places.

OFFICERS ARE WELL PLEASED WITH INSTRUCTION CAMP

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Fredericksburg, Va., June 6.—Camp Mayo, the instruction camp for officers of the Virginia militia, which has been held here for the past week, was disbanded to-day. Paymaster Kinsolving paying the officers off by 8 o'clock. The pay roll amounted to $5,467.53. This does not include the camp expenses, but only the pay of the officers. The officers all expressed themselves as charmed with the location of the camp here, with their stay in Fredericksburg, and many expressed the opinion that they will be glad to have Fredericksburg made the permanent site for the instruction camp. Many of the officers were the recipients of much social attention during their stay here.

Caldwell Commencement.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Caldwell, Va., June 6.—Congressman A. J. Montague delivered the commencement address to a large audience at Caldwell High School last night. Doors, windows and aisles were crowded, as the building was entirely too small to seat the people.

The choruses by the students showed faithful training and were greatly enjoyed. Prolonged applause greeted each appearance of the youthful singers. A nice sum of money was realized from the sale of ice cream and fruit, to be spent in school improvements.

Premiums for compositions written for the county school fair were awarded to the following students: Rosewell Bowles, Ruby Lennon, John Crowder, Frances Vaughan, Nellie Layne, Iola Cochran, Daniel Webster, Ernest Webster and Lena Sheppard.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL DAY WILL BE OBSERVED

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Staunton, Va., June 6.—Confederate Memorial Day will be observed on Tuesday. An innovation has been introduced this year in that veterans will no longer be permitted to march in the parade, but will be conveyed back and forth in automobiles, as many of them are too feeble to march, and yet insisted on joining others in the march so long as the custom continued. Now all will ride, machines having been secured for the purpose. The orator for the occasion will be Hugh H. Kerr, of the Staunton bar and Commonwealth's attorney for Augusta County, son of a Confederate veteran, and of a family that had big representation in the Confederate ranks. Captain H. H. McElhany, one of Mosby's men, will be chief marshal, and his assistants will be Captain Thomas D. Ransom, Captain James N. McFarland, Captain G. Julian Pratt,

Correct Sewerage—Pure Water—Efficient Lights—Good Pavements

Make Towns Grow

Modern Americans demand perfect sanitary conditions. You and your families must have homes in town that are good and healthy to live in.

If your town has a breeding place for sickness, you and your neighbors will have to pay the price for it.

If there is a lurking place for disease in your community, your family is in danger.

If your town lacks the proper sewerage facilities, the entire population is in peril.

If the water supply is exposed to contamination, the life of your citizens is menaced.

If your lights are poor, your town is not progressive.

We are Municipal Engineers, and we can do for your town what we have done for hundreds of others. We plan, design, estimate, finance, construct and operate sewerage systems, water and light plants and paving—one or all at your option.
